

Tshepang Motlounge

Creative

Hello, my name is Tshepang M, born bread & butter in Johannesburg South Africa. we the locals call it Mzansi

I am a creative, spent the last 10 years as a Promo Producer/Director, started as a runner in 2009 & climbed up the ladder to conceptualizing, pitching, writing scripts & editing Promos. I have been part of great teams and lead creative teams that produced some breath taking work in the past couple of years.

I am professional, mature & hardworking individual, I always aim at excellence & believe that I am an ambitious young man with an abundance of confidence. I bring fun creative ideas, a lot of laughter, an award or two & we never miss deadlines.

This pandemic has hit us hard and as a creative I am always on the lookout for creative opportunities & spaces where I can fit in and share my skill, while learning from others in and around me, I am on the lookout for new opportunities and I am available immediately to hit the ground running. I will go anywhere in the world where there is an opportunity to grow, learn more and produce award winning work.
